Monitor-sys24576.prg 1997-05-10 4098

Machine language monitor, SYS 24576 to start. No instructions either,

but has the usual monitor commands.

Programmer's Aid-sys28681.prg 1996-11-27 4098

A utility cartridge for BASIC programmers. Defines some BASIC commands

on the function keys. AUTO, RENUMBER and other goodies. The cartridge does not work if it is copied to RAM and the BASIC interpreter is using the $7000-$7FFF area.

Rabbit-sys38912.prg 2002-09-22 2050

A tape fastloader. The ROM is mapped to an uncommon area, $9800-$9fff.

After SYS38912, the commands *L (load) and *S (save) work in direct mode, in the beginning of the command line.

Rabbit.txt 2002-09-22 1415

A description of the Rabbit tape format.

Screenmaster.prg 1997-05-10 4098

Another basic extension.

Super Expander.prg 1997-05-10 4098

Vic 20 Super Expander (without the extra 3 kB RAM, of course). A BASIC extension with graphics and sound commands. May need the 3kB expansion to run. Supports also 8kB or more expansion memory. Autostart, starting address $A000. Only 4 kilobytes.

vic1211m-SuperExpander.prg 2018-05-17 4098

VIC-1211M from Japan. Same as Super Expander, with slightly diff commands.

Starts at $a000.

Vicmon-2-6000.prg 1997-05-10 4098

Vicmon, a machine language monitor. SYS24576 to start. A slightly different version.
